NEW BUILDING of the First Christian Church of Albany

FELLOWSHIP HALL

Dedicated - -

New Structure Houses Congregation Of First Christian Church in Albany

The congregation of the First Christian Church at Albany dedicated their new building on Sunday, March 19, at a mid-afternoon service. With the completion of this building the activities of the church are now under one roof. After the old building was destroyed by fire, worship services were held in the Veteran's Memorial Hall, and church-school classes met in makeshift quarters in the former parsonage and elsewhere.

Orville Mick, a former minister to the Albany church (1940-1951), delivered the dedication address, "This Is the Sanctuary of the Lord." Rev. Mick is now associate minister at Salem's First Christian Church.

Claude Buerge, the building contractor, officially presented the building for acceptance by the building committee, represented by Lewis Jory, chairman, and by the congregation, represented by Elmo Bassett, chairman of the church board.

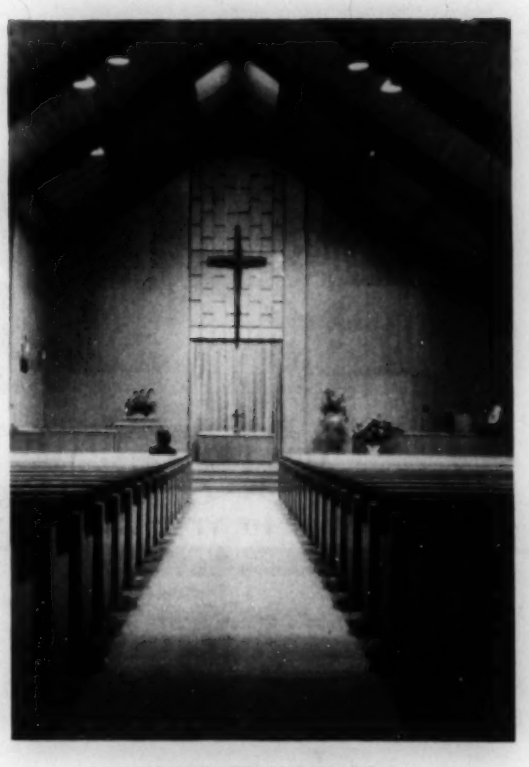
Then Lester Jones, minister of the Albany congregation, spoke the words of dedication, and Dr. Guy Wright of Northwest Christian College offered the prayer of dedication.

Other participants in the program included Henry L. Searle, executive secretary of the Oregon Christian Missionary Society; Dr. Morton Booth, president of the Albany Council of Churches and minister of the Westminster United Presbyterian Church; and John Jordan, Jr., pastor at Perrydale.

Music was provided by Mrs. Carl Newport at the organ; Miss Lois Harvie of Sweet Home (flute solo); Janet Vedder Leek of Springfield (vocal solo); and the choir, directed by Mrs. Albert Arnold.

A reception and open house for inspection of the building followed the service of dedication.

The building, lot, parking paving, and sidewalks represent an investment of $286,000. Claude Buerge Construction Co. was the contractor.



SANCTUARY INTERIOR

The building, of reinforced concrete construction, contains two stories and a basement. Permanent fireproof shingles cover the sanctuary; a gravel roof covers the classrooms.

The basement houses the boiler room, dressing rooms, the choir room, and restrooms. A separate stairway leads directly to the baptistry and choir loft.

On the main floor are classrooms, church offices, the sanctuary, fellowship hall, and the kitchen.

The sanctuary is of laminated wooden-arch construction. Asphalt tile covers the concrete floor, Marlite (masonite) panels cover the lower walls, Curon acoustic material covers the upper walls, and acoustic-type wood decking covers the ceiling. Panels of plastic glass mounted in aluminum sash glaze the windows.

Fixtures in the sanctuary include padded pews, a loudspeaker system, and floodlights (partially concealed behind the arches) which can be dimmed to any desired level of illumination.

High on the north wall of the sanctuary is a cross, made of polished walnut. Directly beneath it, at floor level, is the baptistry, concealed behind draw drapes. Immediately in front is the communion table.

Concealed behind the north wall is a large organ chamber, while in the balcony is a small organ chamber, called an echo organ. The organ, a new electronic instrument, was made by the Baldwin Piano Co.

On the building's second floor are classrooms, storage rooms, access to the balcony (which has no news at present), a kitchenette, and restrooms. The larger classrooms are equipped with accordion-style dividers.

Vinyl tile over plywood, supported by steel joists, covers the floors of the second story.

Heat for the building comes from the gas-fired boiler housed in a fireproof room. In addition, electric heaters supply the offices when the central heat is turned off, and there are two fireplaces, one in fellowship hall and one in an upstairs classroom.

About 375 were in attendance at morning worship on March 5, the first Sunday after the building was opened for use.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Let Your Money Work For God and Earn Four Per Cent Interest

"If we only had money available to buy new church sites now, thousands of dollars could be saved and good locations could be secured that otherwise may be lost." This kind of remark is heard every time the matter of planning new churches in Oregon is considered.

The Board of Church Extension offers a plan whereby we can build up a line of credit with them upon which we can borrow money for down payments on property and for interim financing for new church construction. The plan provides that Investment Certificates be purchased by individuals in amounts of $500.00 or more. These investments are to remain with the Board for three years, although in emergencies the money may be withdrawn. Investors receive 4% interest compounded semi-annually.

Members of our churches in Oregon who have money invested at comparable rates of interest would be making a valuable contribution to our new church program in Oregon by transferring these investments to the Board of Church Extension. If $100,000 were invested with the Board of Church Extension throughout the next ten years, we would be in position to borrow money at critical times without having to wait two or three years for our loans.

The Board of Church Extension is a thoroughly sound institution with gross assets totaling more than $14,000,000. Throughout its entire history the Board has never failed to meet its obligations in full and on time. There need be no question about the complete safety of investments with this Board.

Here is an opportunity to make a sound investment at a good interest rate and at the same time contribute significantly to the cause of establishing new churches that are critically needed.

Persons who are interested in making such investments are invited to get in touch with Sherman Moore or Henry Searle at the Oregon Christian Missionary Society, 304 Fitzpatrick Building, Portland.

MINISTER RETIRES

On March 5, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur R. Hensley retired from the active ministry of the Seaside Christian Church. They have purchased a home at 3172 N.E. 35th Place in Portland. Mr. Hensley is a retired chaplain of the United States Air Force. Before the war he was pastor of the Church of Christ at Gladstone.

CAMIE BLOOM, International CYF president (facing camera), led a discussion group at the State CYF Commission.

SUE ALLEN, state study chairman, arranges a BABS (Books Are Bridges) display at the Commission.

BIGGEST ON RECORD—

1961 State CYF Commission Draws 300 Youth to Forest Grove

On Friday, March 10, President Gary Holliday rapped the gavel to mark the opening of the 1961 State CYF Commission, held at Forest Grove. The Commission was the biggest on record, 40 Oregon churches being represented and a few over 300 in attendance.

Fred Evans, the minister of the Medford Christian Church, was the keynote speaker. He delivered 3 messages during the Commission on the 1960-61 youth theme, "Christ or Chaos," placing the emphasis on evangelism. There were 19 discussion groups to reflect upon and discuss the material given in Mr. Evans' talks.

A very special guest on the program was Camie Bloom, the International President of the CYF. She acted as one of the discussion group leaders and gave a very inspiring talk during the Saturday lunch time. On two occasions she led informal singing, which helped the Commission to see what an enthusiastic person she is.

A banquet was served on Saturday evening with Don Rogers from the First Christian Church in Eugene giving the after-dinner speech. After some delightful humor he reminded the Commission that Christ is the norm for every Christian and to be a "Normal Christian" one must live up to the example of Christ.

New State CYF officers were elected in a business session and installed in a candlelight service during the evening. The outgoing officers were: president, Gary Holliday; vice president, Kathy Scott; secretary, Carol Reeder; committee chairmen, John Sanford, Sue Allen, Larry Griffeth, Jan Fochtman, and Shirley Tyson.

The Commission was closed on Saturday morning with a very impressive communion service. One of the thrills of the Commission was the singing of the Lords Prayer by the entire group during this service.

The program for the Commission was planned by Virgil Cedergreen, Commission director from Forest Grove, and the state CYF officers. The ladies of the Forest Grove CWF prepared the meals. The local arrangements for the Commission were taken care of by the Forest Grove CYF and the church staff.

For Church Reporters Only

Although you are no longer receiving a reminder postcard each month, you are encouraged to send in reports of noteworthy events in your church. If you have pictures to accompany the article, so much the better. News and pictures should be addressed to the Oregon Christian Missionary Society, 304 Fitzpatrick Building, Portland.

News from local churches will not be grouped in the "Around The State With The Churches" section. This section is being eliminated, at least for the present.

The new plan will relieve you as local reporters of the obligation of sending in monthly accumulations of miscellaneous brief items. Now you may feel free to write as often as you like and as fully as you like about the significant items in your church.

Your comments on this plan are invited. Feel free to send them to the Oregon Christian Missionary Society, 304 Fitzpatrick Building, Portland.

Corvallis Church Buys New Parsonage

An open house was held at the new parsonage of the First Christian Church, Corvallis, Oregon, February 19, 1961. This home, purchased for $18,250, replaces the old parsonage which the church owned for three years.

Over 180 church members and friends attended the open house. Members of the church were in the receiving line and acted as guides to show others through the house.

The purchase of this house is one of a series of improvements that the Corvallis Church has been making. Recently, a renovation project has been concluded on the church building. A new furnace and ventilating system was installed. New restrooms were added on each floor. New office space for church school, minister, assistant minister, and church secretary were provided. Fire-exit doors and a fire escape were provided.

The Corvallis congregation, now 70 years old, numbers 645 in membership. Rev. Glyn B. Adsit is in his fourth year as minister of the church.

Northwest Christian College

by Dr. Ross J. Griffeth

Northwest Christian College Day in the churches provides an exceptional opportunity for the members of the churches to learn of the work which is being done at the College. Also, it gives the students a chance to show what they can do as well as talk about it.

The offerings which come to the College through the observance of this Day are very important. It is imperative that the College take in as much money as it spends. A love offering on this day for the College will help to balance the budget again this year. Be sure to hear the message of your College representative when the messenger comes to your home congregation.

• • • •

The Faculty of Northwest Christian College is giving much time to the organization of the annual catalogue so that it will provide the best possible means of telling the story of courses offered and programs of study presented. Also, some modifications are being made, not in the offerings, but in the manner of arranging them so that other educational agencies will understand them better.

• • • •

The Chapel Choir, the Male Quartet, and the Christian Drama Troupe have been visiting many congregations during recent weeks, and the reception has been universally splendid for all of these representative groups. The College only regrets that it is not possible for each group to present a program in every one of our churches, but time limitations make this impossible.

• • • •

The N. C. C. basketball team came through a highly successful season in spite of the fact that the College has no gymnasium of its own. N. C. C. won the Willamette Christian College Conference basketball season's competition and placed second in the George Fox College tournament. Wayne Osborne, minister of the Christian Church, Thurston, coached the team.

• • • •

Members of the Northwest Christian Church Male Quartet this year are Taft Mitchell, first tenor, Eugene; Larry Anderson, second tenor, Lebanon; Bill Clark, baritone, Bakersfield, Calif.; Gaylord Hatler, bass, Fort Shaw, Montana. Frank Proctor, accompanist, is from Tillamook. As usual, the Quartet will present programs in many churches and will share in various state conventions of churches.

• • • •

Now is the time for high school seniors to complete their applications for admission to Northwest Christian College. Anyone who plans to enter N. C. C. next September and who does not have an application form may secure one by writing to Northwest Christian College, Eugene, Oregon.

WITH THE STATE SECRETARY

As I go among the churches of Oregon I am very much aware of the fact that the Christian Churches in our state are on the move. This fact has been demonstrated in conferences on New Church Development, and a keen interest on the part of individuals and churches. With the purchase of our campsite we now look forward to the use of it, to paying the balance of $13,000, and to erecting buildings. (If you would like to share financially in this enterprise, please let me know.)

At the State Integrating Conference in February plans were projected by the various state commissions, which, when put into operation, will move our work to new heights. Then there has been the CMF Retreat, where we started the movement for a solid men's work in Oregon.

Besides sharing in the above activities, your secretary has preached Sunday mornings at Seaside and Eastside, Albany. These two churches, although not large in numbers, have the potential of developing into strong congregations.

Then it has been my privilege to share in the installation service for Ladd Howard at McMinnville. This church is moving forward under his leadership. It was a joy to present James Osborn with the "Honored Minister's" pin. Another speaking engagement was at First Church, Salem, for the Week of Compassion Dinner. The following Sunday the church received a generous offering for relief of suffering in the world.

Several days were spent in Indianapolis at brotherhood meetings. While there I visited many Oregon students at Christian Theological Seminary. What a fine group of future ministers we have!

We face the future with confidence that our churches in Oregon will meet the challenge of this hour for consistent witnessing for Christ and the Church.

Yours in Christ,
Henry L. Searle

MISSIONARY SPEAKS AT ALBANY

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the Albany Eastside Christian Church held a "White Swan" missionary dinner program recently with Clifton Peightal of the Yakima Indian Christian Mission as speaker.

The District 4 Christian Men's Fellowship dinner was held at Eastside on March 27, with Sherman Moore as guest speaker.

OREGON CHRISTIAN WOMEN'S FELLOWSHIP

by Virginia Cook
State Worship Director
Guest Columnist for Idella Osburn

Let's play a game!

WHO? — YOU, the women of Oregon CWF.

WHAT — Some very busy times ahead for you!

WHERE? — All over the state of Oregon . . . at Turner . . . even at Purdue, in Lafayette, Indiana.

WHEN? — Especially from May through July!

WHY? — To challenge Oregon CWF to DO SOMETHING about Christ's mission this Decade! Yes, you've heard some of this before, but let's repeat it!

CWF Workshop Rallies, May 2-26

If you missed last year's Spring Workshops, you REALLY missed something! You will recall that the State CWF Executive Board went "all out" to make these District meetings different and interesting? Your response challenges them to "top the performance" this year.

The theme, DECADE OR DECAYED?, challenges us to "Hear and Understand." (Matt. 15:10b) See your State Board in action through SKITS, DIALOGUES, ROUND-TABLE EDITION . . . catch the latest NEWS FLASHES . . . try to decode this: "Tel. and Tell" . . . bring your CWF problems to the Conference Time. And these aren't all, for there will be fellowship, fun, singing, and a closing inspirational commitment. BLESSING GIFT BOX GIFTS WILL BE DEDICATED.

Your offerings those days will defray travel expenses of the officers! These are the names of your State Executive Board: of course, there is Idella Osburn and Beulah Smith . . . then Edith Bobbitt, Eva Schults, Virginia Cook, Penny Rold, Gladys Jensen, and Janet Quakenbush. CAN YOU NAME THEIR OFFICES?

Sorry . . . I can't tell you more . . . so get your hat and coat ready . . . you'll just have to come and see for yourself. And don't forget to bring someone else with you. Commitment service: "The Master Is Here and He Calleth For Thee."

Women's Day at Turner, June 29

An exciting day is planned . . . with inspiration and fellowship JUST FOR YOU. A reception for ALL LOCAL PRESIDENTS (this means the president of YOUR OWN CWF) between 3:45 and 4:45 P.M. The Corvallis women will be hostesses . . . Installation service by Cedar Hills CWF . . . Vesper Hour at 5:00 P.M. The theme for the afternoon is: "We Walk With Him."

Dr. Gene Johnson is the missionary speaker, and John Paul Pack the guest speaker. Both are exceptional. This is JUST A TEASER now for you . . . more news later.

Quadrennial Flash

The Advance Program Flyer spotlights some outstanding features for the Quadrennial to be held July 19-23 at Purdue University in Lafayette, Indiana. There will be "Let's Talk About It Groups", drama, presentation of "Elijah", appointment and commissioning of missionaries for overseas service, communion, and commitment, just to name a few of many excellent things.

Such personalities as Dr. A. Dale Fiers, Dr. Perry Gresham, Dr. Virgil Sly, the Texas Players, Miss Jessie Trout, Mrs. William Evans.

Hurry and send in your $45 registration for lodging and meals . . . and get your name in for a bus tour. Send bus reservation to Idella Osburn, 911 Hiatt Street, Lebanon, Oregon . . . do it NOW! Space won't permit our naming all the outstanding personalities and program features.

What Is That In Your Hand?

"Just money," you say . . . "Maybe I might buy a new hat . . . or maybe get some new things for the house, although I don't really need them."

Look again . . . WHAT IS THAT IN YOUR HAND? That money needs to wing its way around the world with the message of Christ. It can feed hungry people . . . clothe and shelter them, too. And if there's enough, it can feed them spiritually.

So, here's an S.O.S. to Oregon CWF! We're behind in our missionary goals. It's not merely the importance of MEETING A GOAL, but that we send every missionary dollar we can. Please feel a deep commitment that your CWF meet its LIFE-GIVING MISSIONARY GOAL.

WE WISH YOU GOD-SPEED, Beulah Smith, State CWF President, as you go to Advisory Council in Indianapolis, April 11-13.

Next year's study themes present a challenge: CHURCHES FOR NEW TIMES, and THE CHRISTIAN MISSION IN LATIN AMERICA. Send in your orders as soon as your order blanks arrive.

As State Worship Director, may I leave you with these two thoughts: one for your individual spiritual enrichment and one for enrichment within your CWF: 1. "Prayer is a very personal thing. We can READ about it . . . TALK about it . . . but we can LEARN about it only by PRAYING." 2. Worship must cause a RESPONSE, a RE-ACTION, and a COMMITMENT."

Fellowship Organized By Men at Retreat

Winds up to eighty miles per hour and torrential rains could not dampen the spirits of the men who met at Camp Magruder (on the beach north of Tillamook) for the state Men's Retreat, March 10-12.

A total of 77 men registered for the occasion, which brought together laymen and ministers of Oregon with Al Hofrichter, national men's worker, and Alton Brostrom, men's worker from Washington.

A state Christian Men's Fellowship was officially formed with the election of officers. They are Ralph Warren (Kern Park church), president; Allen Horn (Corvallis), secretary-treasurer; Elby Boosinger (Forest Grove), pastor adviser; John Jordan (Albany) and Dr. C. R. Beatty (Kern Park), past presidents serving as advisers.

The largest delegation (14 men) came from Corvallis, led by Fred Dalton.

John Jordan of Albany served as chairman of the program committee. Ezra Blehm of Harrisburg was in charge of table service and mealtime activities. Allen Horn of Corvallis was song leader, and El Don Hoven of Beaverton was accompanist. Bob Nelson of Mallory Avenue Christian Church was the registrar.

Other participants in the program were Glen Leek (Albany), Fred Dalton (Corvallis), Al Head (Salem), Carlton Buck (Eugene), Bob Pfeiffer (Salem), Truman Robbins (Tillamook), C. R. Beatty, Sherman Moore, James Sampson (all from Portland), and William Siefke (Eugene).

After the retreat Al Hofrichter led in a series of area men's meetings. Host churches were Kern Park of Portland, First Christian of Salem, Pendleton, Madras, and Medford.

AL HOFRICHTER

Amity Church Installs Harold Smith

Harold W. Smith of Newberg has assumed the duties of pastor of the Christian Church at Amity. Around 100 people of the community and from county churches attended the service of installation. Ray C. Smith, minister at Willamina and president of the Yamhill County Ministerial Association, gave the address of welcome, following a musical program.

Mrs. James Riha, Jr., reports that the church is on the upswing under the new minister's leadership. Bible-school attendance has increased by more than 20 since the first of the year. Sunday night services average about 40. "Bible study was started again with a fine attendance," Mrs. Riha said.

O. W. JONES

O. W. Jones, retired minister at Wallowa, Oregon, passed away Friday, January 20, 1961, at the age of 85.

O. W., as his friends called him, was educated at Johnson Bible College and was ordained on the last day of the old century (Dec. 31, 1899) at Lamar, Missouri.

Brother Jones held pastorates in Missouri, Montana, Washington, California, and Oregon. Among the Oregon churches he pastored were LaGrande, 5 yrs.; Montavilla, 2½ yrs.; Bend, 11 yrs.; Turner, 2 yrs.; Wallowa, 13 yrs. He also served in the state office for a period of time.

A man of great faith and an optimistic spirit, he has left behind him many who have been directed and helped by his deep wisdom.

Frank E. Needles, pastor
Wallowa Christian Church

The Churches Are Asking . . .

In an earlier column of "The Churches are Asking" Henry Searle wrote an answer to the question, "What services can we expect from our State Workers?" He discussed at length the services that can be supplied by the state staff of paid workers.

Then came the question, "What if we can't get a state staff person every time we need help?" Is there some one closer, who can come on short notice, to help us with our Christian education program, our Christian Women's Fellowship, our youth work, or our functional committees?

Several types of leadership are available, writes Loma Mae Jones, to help individual churches plan their work and train leadership:

1. DISTRICT COORDINATORS OF CHILDREN'S WORK are ready to help plan institutes or other training sessions for children's workers, to offer counsel on rooms and equipment, curriculum, vacation church school, children's camping, and other concerns. Coordinators are:

	Area	Address
Mrs. Sherman Moore	District 1	2435 N. Wygant St., Portland 7
Mrs. Ray Heckart	District 3	Route 4, Box 474, Salem
Mrs. Virgil Stitt	District 4	48 Wheeler St., Lebanon

FRED ASKS:

If You Were Offered . . .

If you were offered a chance of a lifetime, an assurance of a thrilling experience at a nominal fee you could afford, would you take advantage of such an offer?

Sure you would. It just so happens that families in Oregon have this once-in-a-year opportunity through FAMILY CAMP. This year Family Camp will be held at beautiful White Branch Camp on the McKenzie, September 1-4.

With national worker Walter Lantz as our main thought-provoker, supported by an outstanding list of local talent for all ages, the camp promises to be a dynamic Christian family-life experience.

If you want to be one of these fortunate families along with me and my family, why not fill in the following pre-registration blank and mail it to Mr. and Mrs. Everett Smith, 2330 Hayes Street, Corvallis, Oregon. How about it?

Family Camp Pre-Registration

Family Name: ..... Father ..... Mother .....

Name and Age of Children ....., ..., ...

.... Church .....

Family Address: .....

(Pre-registration fee: $5.00). (Total Fees: For 2, $20; 3-4, $40; 5 or more $45).

The fees include your meals (no dish washing or cooking for mama), and your room, or if you wish you can bring a trailer. Swimming, fishing, hiking, etc. See you there? Sure hope so.

Chairman of Family Life Committee

Here Are Some Ideas for Observing Family Week

Richard E. Lentz, director of Family Life for our brotherhood, recently reminded all our churches of the importance of Family Week, May 7-14, and suggested that we use the Decade of Decision Christian Family Life resource guide to help establish goals and services for families.

Claude Baskett, chairman of the state Family Life committee, would appreciate any new ideas that you are using to enhance family-life experiences in your church. Any pictures or new ideas of family activity in your church will be graciously received and appear in the Oregon Christian when space permits.

SCHOOL AT TWIN CITIES

A beautiful and impressive climax to a most successful School of Missions was held at Milton-Freewater, Sunday evening, February 26. Many were in costumes of other countries. Two foreign exchange students, Joe Jucian, of the Philippines, and "Hok" of Cambodia, were guest speakers. The Christian film, "The Household of Faith," was also shown. Irene Warner, reporter. George Knox, minister.

BAKER STUDIES TITHING

The Baker Christian Church held instruction classes, February 15-17, for a School of Tithing to be held April 30 to May 21. Bob Mulkey, minister at Bend, was instructor in charge of teacher preparation. Joe Jewett, minister.

McMinnville Installs Ladd Howard as Pastor

On the afternoon of February 26, Ladd Howard was installed as the minister of the McMinnville Christian Church. He began his ministry there in February.

Paul Patrick, chairman of the board, presided at the installation service. Henry Searle, executive secretary of the Oregon Christian Missionary Society, brought the installation message and gave the charge to the new minister.

Ralph Perry, Sheridan minister, read the scripture, and Robert Kuykendall, pastor at Yamhill, gave the benediction.

A reception for Mr. and Mrs. Howard followed in the fellowship hall.

Henry Searle reported that the McMinnville Church has had a remarkable increase in interest and attendance since Ladd Howard began his service to the church. He said, "The McMinnville church looks forward to a very fine fellowship with the Howards, as together they serve the Christ."

Rev. James Osburne, for many years a minister in Oregon, was presented the Honored Minister's pin in conjunction with the installation of Ladd Howard.

Brother Osburne has served Christian Churches in Washington and the McMinnville Christian Church. In presenting the Honored Minister's pin, state secretary Henry L. Searle brought greetings from the churches of Oregon and stated that Brother Osburne was not being placed "on the shelf" but he was being honored for the effective service he has rendered.

PROGRAM FOR EASTERN OREGON CONVENTION

The Eastern Oregon Convention will meet May 1 and 2 at the First Christian Church in Milton-Freewater. The first session begins on Monday at 2:00 P.M., with a worship service led by the host church. Charles Knox, Heppner minister, will deliver the keynote address.

The theme of the Convention is "Why Stand Ye Here?" The Convention text is Acts 1:11.

Dr. Gene Johnson of the Congo will be the missionary speaker. He will present three messages during the convention. The first will be at 3:20 P.M. on Monday. Time will be allowed after this address for questions from the delegates. The other two addresses will be presented at the banquets, each evening at 6:00.

The guest speaker will be Howard Cole, well known to Oregonians. He will bring three messages during the Convention, as follows: Monday evening, Tuesday afternoon, and Tuesday evening. These addresses will deal with the general theme of stewardship. Specifically, their topics will be, in order of presentation, Stewardship of Time, Stewardship of Family Life, and Stewardship of Money. Buss sessions will follow the first two messages.

Henry Searle, executive secretary of the Oregon Christian Missionary Society, will bring a message on Tuesday morning. He is also coordinating the program for the state work and the various agencies in the state which regularly report to the Convention.

Tuesday, 9:00-11:00 A.M., has been reserved for separate sessions for the men and the women. The men's meeting will be under the direction of the president of the Christian Men's Fellowship at Milton-Freewater.

Women's meetings will be under the general direction of Idella Osburn, state executive secretary of the CWF, and Effie Ritchey, district secretary. The state CWF officers will share in the women's session. (Prior to the first Convention session, the women will have a pre-Convention meeting, Monday, from 9:00 to 1:30.)

Kenneth Johnston, pastor at the Kern Park Christian Church in Portland, will present the School of Tithing.

From 10:00 to 12:00 on Monday there will be registration and pre-camp conferences for each of the four camps at Cove.

Officers for the Convention are Charles V. Knox (Heppner), president; Earl Hastings (Nyssa), vice president; Doris Coppock (Athena), secretary; and Lois DeLong (LaGrande), treasurer.

Mrs. Frank Fortna Directs School of Missions

The First Christian Church of Grants Pass held a School of Missions during February with an average attendance of 85.

The theme of the school was "Into All the World." The work of the brotherhood was highlighted in all the graded classes of study.

Miss Sheryl Youde, a member of the Grants Pass church, graduate of Oregon State University, and Fulbright scholar to the Philippines for two years, brought messages and showed color slides. She illustrated in her slides the conditions of many countries which she visited on her return from the Philippines on a round-the-world route.

The Brotherhood Dinner climaxed the School of Missions, and $169 was received, with more to come in later.

One of the comments heard about the school was, "Well organized, and best thing we have had in our church for a long time." There was a wonderful spirit of cooperation, according to the minister, John E. Martin. He said, "No one refused the director, Mrs. Frank Fortna, anything she asked them to do."

SALEM CHURCH TOPS GOAL

First Christian Church of Salem reached an offering of nearly $2000 for the Week of Compassion. This was nearly $500 over the goal set by the church.

The First Church drama group, called "Players of First," presented their spring play, "Humanity Versus Pontius Pilate," on March 19. Wayne Greene, pastor.

DR. A. DALE FIERS

UCMS President Speaks in Portland

Dr. A. Dale Fiers, president of the United Christian Missionary Society, was a special guest of the Kern Park Christian Church and the Mallory Avenue Christian Church of Portland, Palm Sunday through Good Friday, March 26-31.

He spoke at evening services at the Kern Park church on Palm Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday. On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings he spoke at the Mallory Avenue church.

He was the guest of honor at other meetings also. He spoke at a breakfast meeting of the Christian Men's Fellowship at Kern Park, 7:00 A.M., March 25. He met with the Christian Women's Fellowship of the Kern Park church on Monday, March 27, for a luncheon program and with the Christian Women's Fellowship of the Mallory Avenue church on Wednesday, March 29, for an early afternoon session.

YOUNG ADULT CONFERENCE (young single adults, young married couples)

All-state	Sept. 1- 4		John Martin, Grants Pass

General Information

AGE

Chi Rho Camps are for young people who have completed the 7th and 8th grades. Those who have completed the 9th grade are not eligible for Chi Rho Camp; they should enroll in CYF Conference.

CYF Conference includes young single people who have completed the 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grades.

Young Adult conference includes young single business adults, college students, and young married couples. No child care will be provided.

COST

Each camp will be priced as low as possible, but will vary according to camp rentals. Each director (see above) will mail specific information regarding registration deadline, cost of camp, list of supplies to bring, pre-conference or camp rally, etc., to local churches in each youth zone.

INSURANCE

Each camper will be covered by health and accident insurance during his week in camp, including transportation to and from camp.

CHI RHO youth prepare for sleepout.

Some Questions and Answers

ARE SUMMER CAMP AND CONFERENCE IMPORTANT?

Each summer more boys and girls, young people, and adults enroll in church-related summer camps and conferences. Churches invest large sums of money in providing curriculum, leadership, and camp facilities for these programs.

BUT DOES ANYTHING REALLY LIFE-CHANGING HAPPEN?

Camp and conference are unique in providing a long, uninterrupted period of time for study, exploration, reflection, worship, and evaluation; and they give opportunity for people to live together in Christian community. Camp planners list specific objectives for the church's camping program. Here are typical examples:

1. To provide an experience of Christian living through which persons come to a better understanding of Christian principles and teachings, as revealed in the Bible.

2. To provide an experience of living in the out-of-doors, and to gain new knowledge of its resources, and develop skills in using them.

BUT HOW DOES THIS RELATE TO THE ON-GOING PROGRAM OF THE LOCAL CHURCH?

Camps and conferences are a part of the program of the local congregation. The camp experience builds upon and contributes to the experience of the individual in his church, and persons become newly and more sharply aware of the meaning of life in relation to God's will for them.

GARY POE AND BOBBIE POULTON work on outdoor project.

Christian education departments in local churches are partners in responsibility for camp and conference. Responsibilities include:

1. Providing adult leadership for the camp. A suggested ratio is one adult leader for each five young people sent to camp. The adults must be growing persons, willing to work hard in preparation for the camp. How does your church measure up?

2. Preparing young people for attendance at camp and conference. Point out the purpose of the camp to the persons eligible to attend.

3. Provide financial help for campers. Every young person should have the opportunity to earn a part of his registration fee but many will be enabled to attend through the concerned help of the total church.

4. Planning for ways in which campers may enter more deeply and meaningfully into the work and witness of the church when they return.

5. Enlisting of parents in the significant meaning of camp and conference so they may give enthusiastic support to young people.

GROUP plays game during evening C.Y.F. at Conference.

Medford Scouts Earn God and Country Award

On February 12, 1961, the First Christian Church of Medford presented the God and Country award to eight Boy Scouts who attend the church.

From Troop 9, which is sponsored by the First Christian Church, Norman Campbell, Greg Gandee, Ron Gandee, Bob Harrison, and Jim Lonzway received the award. Dr. William H. Roberts is the scoutmaster, and James Martolin and Earl Harrison are assistant scoutmasters.

The other three candidates were Paul Branchfield, Dale Carson, and David Doty from Troop 14, which is sponsored by the Crater Lions Club. Robert Glover is the scoutmaster, and Shirrel Doty is the assistant.

These eight boys worked for over 15 months with Glenn McKerrow, the associate minister of the First Christian Church, to meet the requirements for the God and Country Award.

Each of the candidates was presented with a God and Country Award Medal and in turn presented a God and Country pin to his mother.

HAVE YOU MADE A WILL?

Perhaps you wonder why we and other Christian enterprises "harp" on this subject of a will, especially a Christian will. If you read the Saturday Evening Post article of Dec. 3, 1960, written by Roul Tunley, on "What You Should Know about Wills," you will know why. This revealing article did not go into Christian stewardship, but most of us already know what we should do. When you attend to this vital matter, we would suggest this Home as worthy of your trust and a bequest for its future service.

Latest Reports on New Lynchwood Church

Lynchwood Christian Church is a growing concern. The Thursday evening Bible Study, which was its first regular meeting time, is still going strong.

The regular 10 a.m. worship services have continued to grow, nearly filling the Observation Room at the Meadow-Land Dairy, 16430 Powell Blvd., where the congregation meets.

Since last report, 21 new members have affiliated for a total of 51 members. Fifteen of these came forward on February 19. A baptismal service was held at First Christian Church that afternoon.

Recently, the men of Lynchwood pitched in to finish a daylight-basement garage area in a home for use as a nursery-and-kindergarten extension of the Sunday School.

On March 5, regular Sunday School classes at 11 a.m., and a Christian Youth Fellowship program were instituted. Six teachers met with Mrs. Sherman Moore to plan for the new Sunday School.

Several physical needs have been met. A set of primary chairs from the Corvallis Church, and twenty-five copies of Christian Worship—a Hymnal plus one copy of Christian Worship, A Service Book from Christian Board of Publication, have aided the work greatly.

The plans for the new building are in the hands of local architects; the hope is to break ground in April.

OCMS Holds Annual Integrating Conference

"Look Forward with the intent of Moving Forward" was the keynote set by state secretary Henry Searle for the 1961 Integrating Conference of the Board of Directors, Commissions, and Committees of the Oregon Christian Missionary Society at Menucha, February 23-24. The two-day meeting considered plans for the various phases of the work of the Society and was constantly confronted with the importance of communication between those planning the programs and the churches of the state.

Elby Boosinger, president of the Board of OCMS, presided at the session attended by some sixty members.

NEWS OF CHRISTIAN STUDENT CENTERS

DULCINA ELLIOTT
CAMPUS MINISTER AT EUGENE

"Invest Your Summer" is the descriptive title of an annual catalog of summer service projects published by the Commission on Your Service Projects of the National Council of Churches. It lists Work Camps at home and abroad, including those sponsored by a wide variety of denominations, community-service projects, institutional service, working seminars, caravans, study seminars, and individual service possibilities. Most of the projects are for youth between the ages of 18 and 30 years.

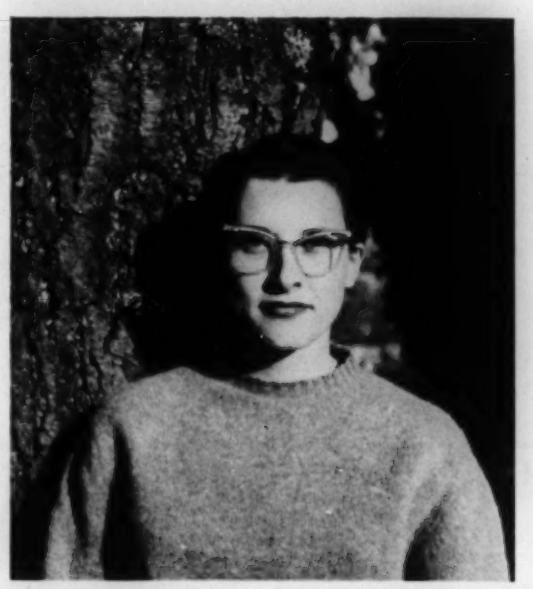
Many church people ask "What is a Work Camp?" The pamphlet describes it well. "Work camps involve physical labor on a project of social significance. This is supplemented by a program of study, discussions and worship which points up the responsibility of the group to the community and the individual to the group. Work campers volunteer their time, share in living expenses and pay their own transportation."

Community service refers to teams of youth working on such problems as delinquency, racial or class tensions, or health and recreation needs. It does not require so much actual physical labor as the regular work camp. The Friends and the Church of the Brethren provide many opportunities to work in mental institutions as summer aides, or in hospitals. Caravans are small groups of four to six youth who move from one community to another to put on vacation church schools, youth recreation programs, and the like.

The seminars are self-explanatory. The working seminars encourage study of industrial conditions through group discussions after hours of labor in factories or other spots. Study seminars on the other hand minimize the hours spent in labor and stress evaluation of different viewpoints on national and international problems.

Migrant work under national and state councils of churches offers especially fine opportunities for service. In Oregon, many camps are now made up mostly of Spanish-speaking workers who do the seasonal jobs.

Youth, especially college youth, wishing to spend a summer in service in any of these areas should contact the proper agency right away. For our own brotherhood, the key person is Mrs. Ruth Milner, 222 So. Downey Avenue, Indianapolis, Indiana. Migrant applicants go through the Oregon Council of Churches in the Fitzpatrick Bldg., Portland 5, Oregon. Churches can be of great help in making known to their youth these new forms of service which contribute greatly to our Christian witness both at home and abroad. Many youth may need financial backing. Here again, the home church can be of help.



CHARLA ROYSTON, secretary of the Eugene DSF, has been elected to participate in an American Friends Service Work Camp in Mexico this summer.

RAY HELSETH, CAMPUS MINISTER AT PORTLAND

Interest on campus is increasing as the Campus Christian Association adds to its program. A study of preparation for marriage counseling, sponsored by the CCA and the College Counseling Service, is receiving much interest.

Spring term will bring retreats and firesides, besides the regular Tuesday evening dinners.

Ray Helseth, campus minister, attended the Northwest Conference on Religion and Higher Education in Moscow, Idaho, with Dr. Keister Strudal as speaker.

The address of the Campus Christian Association, which is the Cooperative Campus Christian Ministry at Portland State College, is "W" House, 621 S.W. Hall Street, Portland.

Professional Workers With Youth Will Meet

The second annual Orientation for Professional Workers with Youth will be held April 20-22 at the beautiful Boy Scout Training Center in Portland, Oregon.

The Orientation will have as guest leader Mr. Josh L. Wilson, Director of Christian Education for the Christian Churches of Northern California-Nevada.

Youth leaders employed by the Christian Churches in Oregon are invited to attend the Orientation, which will concentrate on major issues of concern to youth leaders today.

The Orientation is sponsored by the Youth Committee of the Oregon Christian Missionary Society. The cost of the conference is $6.50. Enrollment is limited to 35 persons. Mrs. Joan Smith, Portland, Oregon, is overall chairman for the event.

MOVES TO NORTH BEND

Dick Fishback, son of Minister Len Fishback of the North Bend Christian Church, has accepted an appointment as sports editor of the Daily World. Dick and his wife, Rosalee, are now residing in North Bend.

WANTED:

500 Christian men and women who have $100.00 to $30,000.00 to invest and who may need a good return on the money, but who are willing to leave the money in the case of their death to the undergirding of the Christian Ministry. The Church and its ministry needs these people and these people need to learn about pension fund gift annuities.
If you are ONE of these 500,
